

Opportunities for experienced medical writers
Medical communications
Basel, London or Manchester,

Are you an experienced medical writer seeking an exciting new opportunity within medical communications?

The Nucleus Group includes the medical communications agencies MediTech Media, Health Interactions and Articulate Science, and the medical publisher International Medical Press. We are an independent, global group of companies specializing in medical communications, with approximately 350 employees in 12 offices around the globe.

Due to continued growth, we have a number of exciting opportunities for experienced medical writers at all levels to join our dynamic and employee-focused organization. We are particularly proud of our strong scientific knowledge, quality of service and innovative approach to today's challenges in medical communications. You will be part of a team delivering high-quality medical communication services to blue-chip pharmaceutical clients and international scientific societies across a number of different therapy areas.

What is it like to work at the Nucleus Group?

We work in a friendly and informal environment where employees feel challenged and can develop their skills, and where their contribution is recognized. You will have the opportunity to apply your in-depth scientific knowledge and strong editorial skills to a range of exciting and varied programmes. As a company we offer excellent opportunities to progress your career within the UK or by transferring to other offices around the globe.

To be successful, you will have a strong life sciences background to BSc, MSc or PhD level and at least 2 years' experience within a medical communications agency or the pharmaceutical industry.

To find out more about these opportunities, please go to www.nucleusholdings.com or send a copy of your current curriculum vitae and covering letter to ukcareers@nucleusholdings.com.