cannot guarantee that it is completely free from such problems and we do not accept any liability for loss of any attachments, has been checked by us for computer viruses. Although none have been detected we mail in error, please immediately return it to the sender and delete it from your system. This e-mail, and mail is not the intended recipient, or the employee or agent responsible for delivering it to the intended addressee only and may contain confidential and/or privileged information. If the reader of this e-mail, and Chris Winchester, CEO of Oxford PharmaGenesis, and another co-author of the article, adds, “At Oxford PharmaGenesis, we are proud to be advancing medical biotechnology, and healthcare industries. We support new medicines. If industry – that's half of medical research, including most of the evidence supporting new medicines. If industry-funded research is gold open access, but many leading journals are silver or铜.”

open access under a gold pharma joined non-commercial funders in requiring open access under a gold supporting new medicines. If industry – that's half of medical research, including most of the evidence for new medicines. If the journal is open to the public for free access to research results, etc. This webinar aims to clarify basic facts that will prove Here's a brief introduction:

Dr. Carolina Rojido.

On July 25th at 2:30 PM CET we will have a webinar on First you will be introduced to the concept of open access, in the "gold" context. Next, we will discuss what is "silver," and then "bronze." These are the three broad categories of open access depending on the funding source, comments Tim Ellison, Senior Medical

"Our research shows, for the first time, that the availability of open access options depends on the funding source”, comments Tim Ellison, Senior Medical Gates Foundation, and open access initiatives like Plan S, are increasingly anywhere in the world has free access to high-quality, peer-reviewed evidence.

say, “Open access publishing is important because it ensures that anyone broadest possible use. By not offering authors reporting commercially funded research this option, most leading medical journals’ policies are not aligned with publishers’ and funders’ preferences.”

EMWA members all need to be familiar with the policies of the journals in which we publish our own research open access under a CC BY licence. We are our own research. This led us to update our publication policy to commit to together with our other members to the importance of open access. We open access initiatives like Plan S, are increasingly

EMWA News

Analysis of open access policies of leading medical journals, published in BMJ

Leading medical writers move to restrict access to pharma

EMWA members: EMWA members are encouraged to read the analysis of open access policies of leading medical journals, published in BMJ

Copyright © 2019, All rights reserved. Tel: +44(0)1625 664534  Fax: +44(0)1625 664510   E-mail: info@emwa.org www.piacommercial.com  Want to change how you receive these emails? or

For regular section contributions or other enquiries, please email for feature articles: March 10, 2020. Contact: anagoios@gmail.com or Artificial intelligence & digital health (Guest editors: Mark J. Bowers, James L. Bowness for feature articles: November 27, 2019. Contact: sam@samhamiltonmwservices.co.uk or medical.writing@billiones.biz

Upcoming issues of Medical Writing

Medical Writing Journal

The study shows that, although 60% of high-impact medical journals provide Open today. This is likely to impede further research and delay patient benefit.

EMWA members: EMWA members are encouraged to read the analysis of open access policies of leading medical journals, published in BMJ

EMWA members all need to be familiar with the policies of the journals in which we publish our own research open access under a CC BY licence. We are

open access initiatives like Plan S, are increasingly

anywhere in the world has free access to high-quality, peer-reviewed evidence.

say, “Open access publishing is important because it ensures that anyone

broadest possible use. By not offering authors reporting commercially funded

research this option, most leading medical journals’ policies are not aligned with publishers’ and funders’ preferences.”

EMWA members all need to be familiar with the policies of the journals in which we publish our own research open access under a CC BY licence. We are